Flex.Gate 'Mountain'

As adaptable as a chameleon

The completely new designed Flex.Gate not only looks good, it also scores with the ability to read multiple access media and with its simple maintenance – from the easy height adjustment to the automatic configuration of the antenna. In addition, the Flex.Gate adjusts to your needs with customized configuration of modules and can be retrofitted at any time.

Ergonomic design and customer focus

The recessed handle on the antenna makes usage comfortable and easy for skiers and snowboarders. The extra-large display enables intuitive interaction and provides a direct communication channel with your visitors.

Simple and low cost maintenance

Working with the Flex.Gate couldn't be easier: One person, one socket wrench – and it's set to the optimal height for that day's snow. And you can forget the time-consuming manual tuning of the antenna. The reader does that automatically during normal operation.

All ticket types welcome

The unique "Single Point of Reading" allows you to check any data carrier at the same reading point. From barcode to RFID and many other formats. Even authorizations on mobile devices such as smartphones or tablets are easily read. Convenient for your visitors, economical for you.

Features to meet your wishes

Modularity and easily retrofitted components means the Flex.Gate can also be adapted to new or changing requirements at any time. The display and/or antenna dish matching your corporate identity uniquely supports your branding.
